

1. The Brunswick News. Middle School Taps Technology For Reading by Sarah Lundgren. October 4, 2014. This is something I read on an online newspaper on October 6, 2014.

Lundgren, Sarah. "Middle School Taps Technology For Reading." The Brunswick News. 4 Oct. 2014. Accessed 6 Oct. 2014.

2. Ovetta Wiggins wrote an article on page B7 called Five Public and Private Schools in the Washington Area Receive Top Honor. This was published in Washington Post. This article is from September 30, 2014. I bought this newspaper from the corner store

Wiggins, Ovetta. "Five Public and Private Schools in the Washington Area Receive Top Honor." Washington Post, 30 Sept. 2014: B7.

3. Online Time Magazine article called Frankenstorm: Why Hurricane Sandy Will Be Historic. Bryan Walsh wrote this on October 29, 2012. I read this on October 5, 2014 on Time.com, a site sponsored by Time Magazine.

Walsh, Bryan. "Frankenstorm: Why Hurricane Sandy Will Be Historic." Time Magazine, 29 Oct. 2012. Time.com. Accessed 5 Oct. 2014.

4. All You Need to Know About Trick-or-Treating and Halloween Candy (And Then Some) on pages 45-48 by Brad Tuttle. 2012 October 30. I get Time Magazine in the mail every week.

Tuttle, Brad. "All You Need to Know About Trick-or-Treating and Halloween Candy (And Then Some)." Time Magazine, 30 Oct. 2012, 45-48.

5. I'm researching for a class of mine and came across an article on the Academic Search Premier database from UMD's library. Joshua Inwood and Anne Bonds wrote it and it's called On Racial Difference and Revolution. They published this on June 1 2013 and it is in pages 38-56 of a journal called Antipode – Volume 45 Issue 3. I looked at this article on July 9, 2014.

Inwood, Joshua, and Anne Bonds. "On Racial Difference and Revolution." Antipode 45.3 1 June 2013, 38-56. Academic Search Premier. Accessed 9 July 2014.

6. I'm working on another project for a class and found an article in a print journal. The article is called Sticker Shock: What College Leaders Say About Costs by Margaret Foster. She published this on December 3 2013 and it's on pages 89-102 of a journal called American Scholar. The volume is 82 and the issue is 1.

Foster, Margaret. "Sticker Shock: What College Leaders Say About Costs." American Scholar, 82.1, 2013, 89-102.

7. I'm writing a paper comparing a book to its film version. I need to cite the DVD that I watched to get my information. The movie is called Dreamcatcher, and stars Morgan Freeman and Jason Lee. It was directed by Lawrence Kasdan. It was released in 2003 by Warner Home Video.

Dreamcatcher. Directed by Lawrence Kasdan, performances by Morgan Freeman, and Jason Lee. Warner Home Video, 2003.

8. On my way to work yesterday (10/15/18), I was listening to WNYC and I heard a segment from a radio program that I would like to use as a source for my project. It was an NPR program called Morning Edition. The episode is titled Why Saying is Believing- The Science of Self-Talk.

"Why Saying is Believing- The Science of Self-Talk." Morning Edition. NPR, WNYC, New York City, 15 Oct. 2018.